BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL

JOAN G. WEXLER
Joseph Crea Dean
and Professor of Law

June 2003

Dear Members of the Class of 2003:

On behalf of the faculty, administration, and staff, I want to congratulate you on your graduation from Brooklyn Law School. We know that the demands of law school have been immense, but that is precisely why you can take such pride in your achievement.

This is, of course, a challenging time for the profession of which you are now a member. Yet, the range of functions lawyers perform has never been greater, and you will find that because you are a lawyer your power to influence the course of private lives and public affairs has never been greater. I am certain that you will be able to face these challenges with strength and grace, and exercise your influence with care and responsibility because of the training that began here, at Brooklyn Law School.

Indeed, my sincerest wish is that a few years from now, when you reflect on your legal education, you will find that we did our best to instill in you a love of the law and a commitment to what is best about the profession.

Now you are members of the Brooklyn Law School alumni family -- a family spanning several generations whose members can be found in law firms, government agencies, public interest law offices, and management suites across the country and around the world. There will be many "family gatherings" in the years to come, including class reunions, symposia, and social events. We look forward to seeing you at all of them.

With all best wishes,

Joan G. Wexler

CANDIDS

Dear Class of 2003.

Happily for some and sadly for others, our time at Brooklyn Law School is finally nearing an end. Beginning with my first year, when I ran for SBA delegate in my small section Civil Procedure class, I felt a duty to be proactive in trying to solve problems at this school. When Kristin Harrison, the SBA Vice-President, and myself came into office in the spring of 2002, we definitely inherited some serious problems. Specifically, the SBA was running a deficit of nearly $10,000, operating without a binding constitution, and lacked a framework for Delegate management. As this yearbook goes to press, this SBA administration has made great strides towards resolving these issues. We have implemented structures and operating procedures that will allow future SBA administrations to function more efficiently and effectively. Perhaps most importantly for the student groups we fund, the SBA has reformed its budgetary process and obtained additional money from the school Administration, thus allowing previously unfunded groups to continue operating.

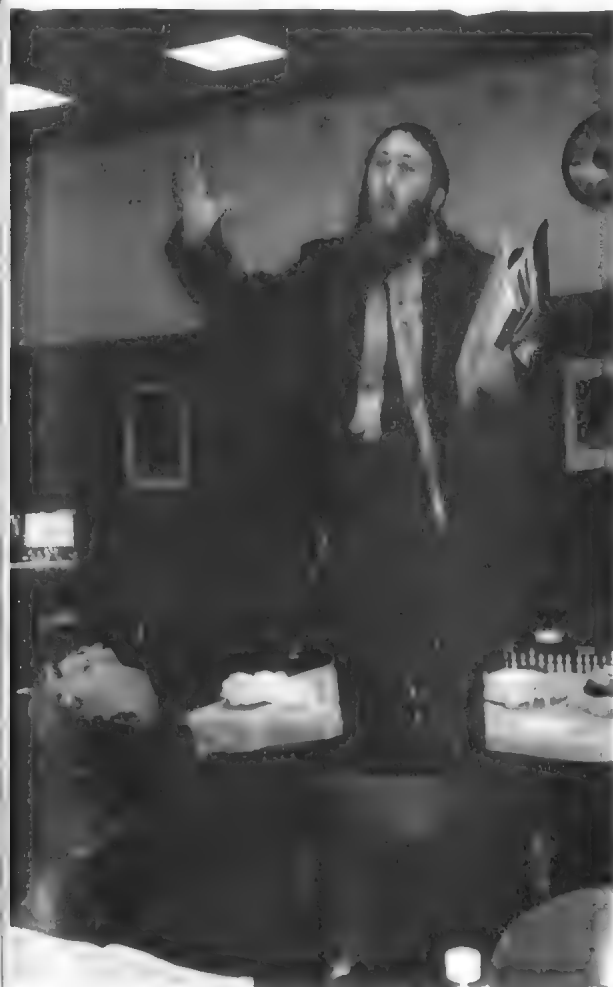

In case you do not already know, the Student Bar Association (SBA) functions as the school's student government. We are an umbrella organization that, among other things, controls the allocation of funds to all the student organizations (ie., BLSA, JLSA, ACS, ACLU, ect.). Using the leverage of budget allocation discretion, the SBA works to coordinate the activities of, and facilitate communication between, the student organizations. Through its elected Delegates, the SBA also acts as the official liaison between students, faculty and the administration. Additionally, the SBA appoints students to various faculty-student committees and creates a pool of students available to serve on Disciplinary Committees. Beyond our formal tasks, the SBA works to build a stronger sense of community by planning all-school social events, in the courtyard and throughout the city, as well as receptions designed to facilitate out-of-class interaction between student leaders and faculty members.

The SBA is particularly proud of the work we have done this year. Beyond managing the budgets of student organizations, the SBA has also created a special fund designed to promote inter-group cooperation on producing intellectual events. To guard against future budgetary difficulties, my administration has completely overhauled the SBA's internal budgeting procedures. Specifically, SBA Treasurer, Diane Yang, a former president of the Asian American Law Students Association, designed and implemented new standardized budgetary and book-keeping systems. In cooperation with the school's Bursar, Treasurer and Dean's Office, Diane and I worked to codify these changes in the new SBA constitution currently under construction.

In addition to the SBA reforms, another major accomplishment was the creation of a well circulated student newspaper, the Brooklyn Law School News. Since March, 2002, when Kristin Harrison and I co-founded the paper, we have managed its operations as Co-Editors-In-Chiefs. Circulating at about 900 copies per month, the BLS News continues to promote a stronger sense of community, improve student governance, and foster a more responsive Administration. Eventually, I hope the newspaper will stimulate the growth of a more vocal and activist-minded student body. As to the future of the BLS News, I would like to see the BLS community continue to support the paper because it is such a valuable public good. In recognition of this value, I also hope that the Administration will encourage high caliber students to take on leadership roles so that the BLS News continues in existence long after Kristin and I graduate.

Finally, I want to thank all the student leaders, Deans, Administrators and Faculty who helped this SBA administration achieve its goals. And to all those graduating, good luck on the Bar exam. I am sure I will see you in the library.

Sincerely,
Robert G. Vidoni,
Student Bar Association President,
2002-2003
